

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

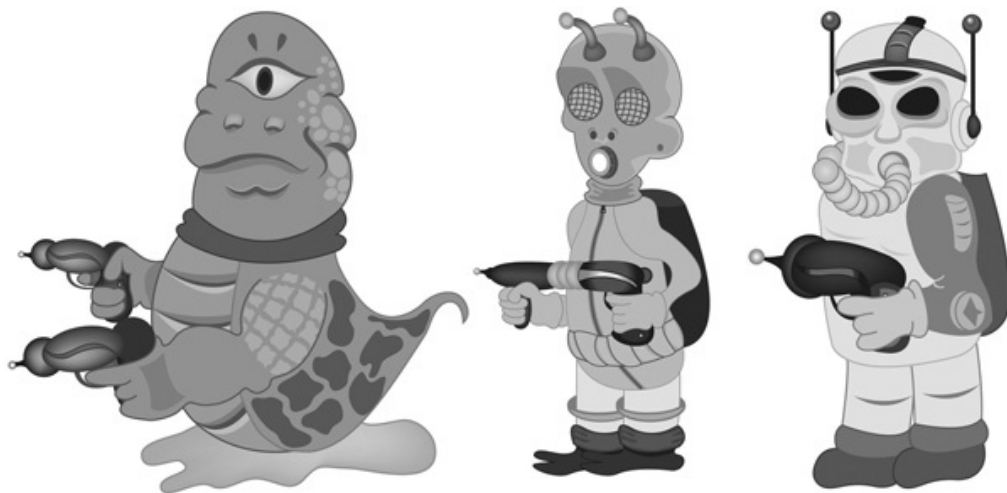

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Have you heard about the alien abduction?

Learning Outcome

Exchange information about unlikely events or fairly certain conditions that will be fulfilled in present, past or future in spoken or written texts and in work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about science, exploration, beliefs and opinions.
- I can talk about unlikely or impossible situations in the present or future.
- I can talk about two actions together.

Ask your partner:

- What stories have you heard about alien abductions?
- Do you believe these stories are true? Why or why not?

Let's Explore!

My interest was piqued!

* When your interest is "piqued" it is aroused by curiosity.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Suppose you saw a UFO. What would you do? Would you think someone was crazy, if they told you that they had? Would you be interested in documenting cases like these if it were your job? If you were to call me at the UFO sighting center, I'd ask you a lot of questions. If I believed your story, I would document it and pass it along to authorities. If you heard the same story from three different people who didn't know each other, your interest would be piqued like mine was.

On February 2nd, we received a telephone call from a mother who remembered looking at the clock when her children burst into the house. They began to describe a "flying saucer" that streaked out of the sky and hovered just above them. They were shocked but remembered to stay together as the moved away. The children went on to describe how the object bathed them in white light, then streaked off. The second caller was a college boy visiting home about thirty miles away. After going outside for a walk, he found himself sitting in the grass in his underwear, his clothes neatly stacked beside him in a field. He forgot to look at the time until he was back inside. He was shocked to see that he had been gone several hours. He went on talking for a while after he called, clearly distressed and feeling slightly disoriented. We advised coming to see us. The third call was from a retired Air Force captain. He saw a large strange white light descend to ground level. He regretted not having a camera to capture the event. If you had found that none of these people had ever met would you have been surprised? I was not.

Let's Practice!

That's an interesting story.

Instructions: Select the correct word or phrase. Fill in the blanks to complete the sentence.

1. She remembered _____ the clock when her children burst into the house.
(looking at / look at / looked at)
2. He went on _____ a while after he called, clearly distressed and feeling slightly disoriented. (talking for / talked for / talking to)
3. They were shocked but _____ stay together as they moved away.
(remembered to / remembering to / remember to)
4. He forgot to _____ the time until he was back inside.
(look at / looking at / looked at)
5. He was _____ that he had been gone several hours.
(shocked to see / shocking to see / shocked to seeing)

Let's Practice!

This is a bizarre situation.

Instructions: Proofread the sentence. Identify the incorrect words. Write down the correct word to complete the sentence. Practice saying the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. Suppose you saw a UFO. What have you do?
2. Would you think someone was crazy, of they told you they had see a UFO?
3. Would you be interested in documenting cases like these if it where your job?
4. If you were to called me at the UFO sighting center, I'd asked you a lot of questions.
5. If I believed your story, I would document it and pass it alone to authorities.

Extension Activity

Listen to stories of UFO sightings.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Go online and find accounts of UFO sightings or alien abduction on YouTube or on another site.
- Listen to 3 and take notes.
- Look at what you have found out and highlight things that are similar in the stories and things that are different.
- Discuss your information with another student or a group and compare all of the notes.
- Decide what all of these stories have in common and whether this makes them believable or not.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I listen to 3 accounts of UFO sightings or alien abduction.

☐ ☐

I take notes while I am listening.

☐ ☐

I highlight the similarities and differences in the stories.

☐ ☐

I discuss the similarities and differences with another student or a group.

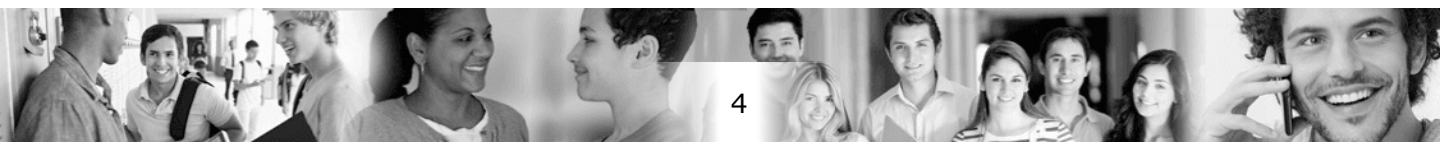

☐ ☐

I decide what all of these stories have in common and whether this makes them believable or not.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- UFO (noun): unidentified flying object
e.g. Suppose you saw a UFO.
- flying saucer (noun): a UFO shaped like a disc
e.g. They began to describe a "flying saucer" that streaked out of the sky and hovered just above them.
- to bathe in (verb): to cover in e.g. The children went on to describe how the object bathed them in white light, then streaked off.
- to streak off (verb): to move away quickly
e.g. The children went on to describe how the object bathed them in white light, then streaked off.
- disoriented (adjective): confused and not knowing where to go e.g. He was feeling slightly disoriented.
- distressed (adjective): upset or worried
e.g. He sounded clearly distressed about the incident.

Learning Points

The Unreal Conditional in the Present and Future

You use the Unreal Conditional to talk about events that are impossible situations in the present or events unlikely to happen in the future.

When you talk about unlikely or impossible situations in a present context, you use the Unreal Past Conditional.

Structure:

If + Past Simple / was/were/ wasn't/weren't ... , would + verb

Example:

If I believed your story, I would document it and pass it along to authorities. = I don't believe your story, so I'm not going to pass it along to authorities.

The if clause introduces a hypothetical situation that isn't true or is impossible. The main clause is a result of that condition, and the opposite of that situation is true.

When you talk about unlikely future situations, you use the Unreal Past in an -if clause to suggest that you are talking hypothetically and the condition may or may not be fulfilled.

Example:

Would you think someone was crazy, if they told you they had? =The outcome of the condition is unknown.

You also suggest that a future situation is hypothetical by using Suppose + Simple Past ... What would you do?

Example:

Suppose you saw a UFO. What would you do?

Read the following examples from the text:

Examples:

- Would you be interested in documenting cases like these if it were your job?
- If you were to call me at the UFO sighting center, I'd ask you a lot of questions.
- If I believed your story, I would document it and pass it along to authorities.
- If you heard the same story from three different people who didn't know each other, your interest would be piqued like mine was.
- If you had found that none of these people had ever met would you have been surprised?

Learning Points

Differences Between -ing and To-Infinitive

When you talk about two actions linked together, you normally use two verbs. The first verb follows the rules of conjugation for the sentence, while the second verb can be a verb in the -ing form or to + Infinitive.

You can use two verbs to talk about two connected actions. The main verb introduces the main action, and the second verb in the -ing form gives more information about that action.

Structure:

Subject + first verb + -ing form of the second verb / to+ Infinitive

Some verbs can be followed by either an -ing verb or to+Infinitive, like like, love, hate, dislike, intend, dread, advise, recommend, regret ...

The difference in meaning depends on the preceding verb.

Forget/Remember with to+Infinitive are looking forward into a future situation. With an -ing form they refer to a past action.

Advise/Recommend with to + Infinitive are followed by an object. With an -ing form there is no object.

Regret with to + Infinitive is a polite form of apology. With an -ing form it has the meaning of If only this hadn't happened.

Like/dislike/love/hate/can't stand/bear with to + Infinitive refer to habitual preferences.

Look at some examples from the text:

Examples:

- We advised coming to see us.
- He regretted not having a camera to capture the event.
- He forgot to look at the time until he he was back inside.
- They were shocked but remembered to stay together as they moved away.

